BEERS GUILTY OF MURDER.

A Verdict Against the Slayer of Augusta Seifert.

THE INSANITY DODGE FAILED.

The Elkhorn Road Denies That Its Rates are Unreasonable and Unjust-Omaha Pilgrims At Lincoln.

FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BURRAU. The Beers murder trial was attentively watched yesterday by a large audience that sought immunity from the storm without in the district court room. The defense occupied the time until along in the afternoon. The case made by the prosecution was clear and concise, as the evidence was of a direct and positive character. The defense confined itself to two theories-the sympathy to to be made in the case through a showing of the relations existing between the murderer and the murdered prior to their coming to America, and the insanity plea that in itself could not evidently be made very telling. The facts showed in the first of the above mentioned was that Beers lived at the home of the girl prior to their coming to America; that when the family determined to cross the ocean the young lady insisted strenuously that Beers should accompany them, and that he did so, going further and advancing $50 to help defray the expenses across the water. The further showing was made that the young man was practically cast off of late and that the trouble preved upon him. Mr. Louie Meyer was put upon the stand to describe the conversation between Beers himself shortly after the Prior to this was entered in evidence that Beers had been assaulted and badly beaten and this might have affected his mind. Mr. Meyer testified hat Beers stated that he had a hammering it his head; that as he was passing a gun store this hammering prompted him to shoot the girl; that he stood for some time on the walk before the store and the hammering in his head continued to tell him to shoot her. He secured a revolver and meeting the girl they went walking, and the hammering con-tinued until be shot and then it left him for a time. Mr. Meyer stated that he talked with Beers in the language of their country, they ooth practically coming from the same Cross examination, however, developed that the defendant's attorneys had solicited him to talk with Beers. Several physicians testito talk with Beers. Several physicians testified on insanity questions. Among those testifying was Dr. Knapp, of the insane hospital. The doctor testified as to the different characters of insanity and deep melancholy, and one of the jurers entered into a dissertation with the doctor on the insane question and announced a new character of insanity that he averred could be found in Webster's dictionary. The doctor, however, was ignorant of the existence of that kind of insanity, and the jurer looked pityingly down upon the doctor as if looked pityingly down upon the doctor as if aware of his own superior intelligence.

The jury retired after the arguments and the judge's charge, and at 11:30 o'clock returned a verlict of murder in the first degree.

The ELEMBER ROAD'S ANSWER.

The answer to the order of the board of transportation ordering the Fremont, Elk-horn & Missouri Valley road to reduce rates in the state one-third has been filed with the supreme court, and hearing of the facts set for December 2. The answer amounts to practically nothing more than a delay scheme on the part of the road and cannot be of much weight in the hearing of facts. The road denies that its rates, as determined by the board, are unreasonable and unjust. The answer admits the legal existence of the board of transportation and admits now-after the court has said it-that the board has powers under the law. It states, however, that rates on its line of road were not excessive when the order was made and then proceeds to cite the star chamber compromise as settling the matter, holding like death to that farcical proceeding as being

A PILGRIM JOURNEY.

A PHIGHIM JOURNEY.

Among the arrivals in the city yesterday was the following delegation from Omaha; Gustav Anderson, William J. Mount, Dr. George B. Ayers, John N. Wistberg, L. M. Anderson, Richard Smith and Oliver F. Briggs. It is understood that these are seven weary sons of the desert who have come from the desert halting place of Omaha. from the desert halting place of Omaha across the sandy wastes and who seek shel-ter in Sesostris temple of the nobles of the mystic shrine in this city. This is, in other words, a new degree of Masonry recently instituted in this state, the only temple being at the onsis of Lincoln. Two weeks ago a band of fifteen journeyed from Kearney seeking the mysteries of the new order, and the Omaha delegation, it is expected, is on a like mission. At 7:30 last evening the pigrims alighted at the temple and were introduced to the oriental mysteries, processions, rejoicings and illumina tions, and the order went, forth for all mem thirty crabs a cordial welcome. Will Go to Jail.

United States Marshal Ellis M. Bierbower received a letter from L. W. Billingsley, chairman of the Lincoln city council yesterday, which in effect, was about as follows:

Lexcoty, Neb. Nov. 25 -E. M. Bierbower United States Marshal, Omaha, Neb.: Sir-In all probability the mayor and city council of the city of Lincoln, adjudged guilty of contempt of the federal court, will arrive of contempt of the federal court, will arrive in Omaha Monday morning and deliver them-selves over to you for imprisonment in jail, pursuant to the decision of the court. The citizens of Lincoln are unanimous in the conviction that we are in the right, and this action on our part has not been determined upon through any disrespect or malice toward your honorable court, whom we feel was only actuated by the highest sense of duty. Gur desire is to submit the case to the highest court in the land. We hope that Judge Dundy and yourself will not make our imprisonment any more severe than is possible or the peculiar circumstances of the case require, but at the same time we do not wish to put ourselves in the attitude of beggars. Yours very respectfully,

L. W. Billingsler,

Chair. City Council, Lincoln, Neb.

Thus it will be seen that it is the intention of the mayor and city council. Thus it will be seen that it is the litteration of the mayor and city council of Lincoln to push this matter to the very limit, and not acquiesce in the justice of their punishment until it has been passed upon by the highest tribunal in the country. They will submit themselves to imprisonment in order to carry the case to the supreme court of to carry the case to the supreme court of the United States, and make application for the United States, and make application for a writ of habeas corpus, and thereby have the merits of the case imperatively passed upon. The receipt of Billingsley's communication has excited a vast amount of comment within legal circles, and the most prevalent opinion seems to be that they have only jumped from the frying-pan into the fire. Some appear to look upon the matter as a great hig bliff, and look upon the matter as a great big bluff, and that Monday morning the muleted municipal legislature and the chief magistrate of the capital will return here and step up like so many little men and disemburden their bondsmen by paying their fines; while other say that they are but obeying the advice of their counsel, and that the Billingsly document means unequivocally what it conveys-nothing less nor nothing more.

Statistics Showing the Movement in Real Estate-Building Permits. real estate and building are concerned, has been exceedingly large for the time of year. The investors are still ready to place their money in solid dirt, even though the snows of winter cover their purchases. The main investments were made on inside property and building lots in the extreme western portion of the city.

All of the brokers seem to be of the opinion that when the spring opens again the business will nearly double that of last spring, so far as outside of building property is concerned. There is a great need of more tenement houses and small cottages. Thousands of mechanics and laboring men are forced to seek boarding houses this winter whereas they would establish homes of their own could they find suitable abodes.

Of the $34,000 in building permits issued during the past week, nearly the whole amount is for cottages. It is understood that two wealthy gentlemen of Omaha propose next spring to utilize one of the unimproved additions by the building of a large number of cottages, especially designed for families of limited means. Indeed the details are alor limited means, indeed the details are al-ready in the hands of a prominent architect, and he will subject plans during the winter. It is the purpose of the projectors to estab-lish a model colony with wide streets, hand-some cottages, a park, and to have the street cars, both cable and horse, run directly to it. Dr. Baldridge's Case Dismissed. The case of Dr. Baldridge, who was arrested on complaint of David Young for obaining money under false pretenses, occupied the attention of the police court yesterday afternoon. Baldridge had bought a drug store outfit of Young, agreeing to pay $900 for it. He paid $100 down, and agreed to pay the remaining $500 later, but there seemed to be a misunderstanding between the two in regard to money due being on deposit at the Nebraska National bank, and hence the suit The doctor, however, was exonerated from all criminal intentions, and the case was dis

Van Etten's Rascality. There was considerable comment yesterday on the arrest of David Van Etten, who is charged with altering public records. Jus-tice Frank Crawford, who is also charged with this same crime, was arrested yesterday afternoon, and the two were arraigned before the police magistrate. A continuance was secured until November 30, at 2 p. m. Both of the alleged criminals deny their guilt, Van Etten declaring that this charge is a piece of spitework, and Crawford asserting that he is not responsible for the changed records. Yesterday in the district court County Attoracy Simeral made a motion that Judge Wakeley appoint a committee to investigate the charge against Van Etten, and if they

Another case of Van Etten's rascality has one to light in the garnishee case of Henry eyer et al vs William Butte, in which Van Etten is said to have coolly pocketed $172.30 belonging to Mr. Butte. This money the court had ordered Clerk Ijams to pay over to Mr. Butte or his attorney, and Van Etten, as Butte's counsel, got hold of it and appropriated to his own use.

A Meeting of County Commissioners. The board of county commissioners at their neeting yesterday accepted the resignation of J. B. Grice as constable of South Omaha. A large number of contractors on grades and grading were allowed part payment of their claims. The county clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for furnishing supplies for the poor of the county. L. Shipley reported the finishing of grade 76 B, and the amount of his claim. $442.10, was allowed. County Treasurer Bolln submitted a list of lots in Douglas addition to Omaha which were sold at public auction on April 27 and 28, and on May 7, 1887 respectively, upon which balance of first one-third payment was due May 16 1887, and has not been paid by the purchasers. The treasurer states that he has frequently notified the said purchasers, but has been unable to collect from them. In the opinion of Mr. Bolln each purchaser can be held to his contract, and upon his recommen dation the matter was referred to the county attorney. The list of delinquents embraces several of Omaha's wealthiest and best

Mr. Balcombe Says the Council's Action Violates the Contract. Chairman Balcombe, of the board of publi works, was asked by a BEE reporter what he thought about the action of the council Friday night by which the latter insisted upon Regan Brothers finishing the city hall basement. "It is not my duty, said he, "to interpret the action of the council, nor yet to say what they should or should not do in the premises. This much, however, I will say-that the board is the repository of knowledge on public works, and we have here all the information which may be desired on such matters in our records. But no councilman came here to ascertain the merits of the case. Whatever may be done in the futurewhether the case goes into the courts or not—I think, especially in the latter event, the action of this board in cancelling Regan's contract will be upheld The council, some time ago, vested in the hairman of this board, the right, under certain circumstances, to do just as this board has done, and by way of proof read this."

Mr. Balcombe then submitted the contract which was entered into between the council and Regan Brothers, one of the clauses of which reads as follows: Bidders will be required to make their proposals for the excavation and full and en-tire completion of the foundation wall to the line of the floor of the first story as described by the plans and specifications. And if the contractor shall assign the contract, or abandon the work, or shall neglect or refuse to comply with the instructions of the engineer in charge relative thereto, or shall fail in any manner to comply with the speci-fications or stipulations herein contained, the chairman of the board of public works shall have the right to annul and cancel the contract and to relet the work or any part thereof; or, at his option, if the work is not carried on as rapidly as it should be, to employ men and prosecute the work at the expense of the contractors; and such annulment shall not entitle the contractor to any claim for damages on account thereof, nor shall it affect the right of the city to recover for damages which may arise from such failure." This contract is witnessed by W. J. Connell, by whom it was drawn as city attorney ttested by Clerk Southerd and signed by J E. House as chairman of the board of public

E. House as charman of the board of public works and William F. Bechel as president of the council and acting-mayor. "Regan Brothers," said Mr. Balcombe, have really acted as anticipated in all the conditions thus specified. I have acted as the council's authority empowered me and I have been not alone in this business because the board was unanimous upon the subject You see also that it specifies that the work shall be done up to the floor line, which is shown also by all the plans, even those which Regan Brothers had in their posses-sion. How the council can do as they have done, in view of these facts, I do not know.

Farnam School's Thanksgiving. Wednesday afternoon was an occasion of joyful import to the pupils of Sixth grade, Farnam school. The little folks had prepared a Thanksgiving programme for the day, and merry looks and joyous voices greeted the throng of smiling visitors who honored them with their presence. The children were in holiday attire and blooming with health and happingss. There were speeches and recitations, and a debate between two tiny youngsters as to the relative merits of Thanksgiving Day and Fourth of July as a boy's holiday, and one appreciating little chap with a dimple in his cheek, "broke out into poetry" in this wise, concerning the Farnam

By Jingo! Just wait till I'm twenty-one And I'll marry a Farnam girl. Franklin Rose, the president of the society, was the pride of his teacher's heart on this occasion and performed his duties in a way that would put to shame many an older in-cumbent of the speaker's chair. The little misses—Flora Day and Susie Colpetzer were very sweet and graceful upon the stage, and Georgie Easson's composition, "Our Visitors," and Master George Purvis' "Turkey's Diary" abounded in sly fun and boyish jokes on the teacher, who was as merry as a grig and enjoyed the fun more than anybody. Eddie Swan's speech, "Those Plaguey Rules," was received with thunders of ap-plause from the delighted boys who enjoyed, as only boys can, the sly hits at the teachers and superintendent and their fondness for Miss Alice Parrott and Miss Nannie Briggs which the audience in strictest confidence whom they meant to marry and Louise Whitman recited Whittier's ballad, "Mary Carvin," in a sweet, clear voice. At the close of the exercises the Rev. Mr. Maile made some very pleasant remarks to the children which they will long remember for their simplicity and beauty.

Mr. J. T. Pierson also spoke to the children, and in a few pleasant words told them that in their conduct of their little society they were getting a brief glimpse of the way the real affairs of the world are conducted. The children were also greatly flattered and pleased to see the genial, pleasant face of Superintendent James among the visitors, though as usual he managed to make his escape just as the speech making begun.

At these "public" or "reception days," as they are called in Farnam school, it is each child's pride and ambition to number a parent or friend among the guests, and on this occasion there were between forty and fifty vis-

RUGS FOR HOLIDAYS

Emma Abbott's Crowning Triumph The Emma Abbott opera company's week's engagement closed last evening with Guenod's immortal opera, "Faust." The previous performances of the week showed the company to be such an exceptionally strong organization vocally that the highest expectations were more than realized for a magnificent production of "Faust." As Margherita Miss Abbott has no superior, if an equal, on the stage to-day. She sang the part as only she can sing it, and displayed intense dramatic force. Next in point of consequence in the rendition in question was William Brederick, as Mephistopheles. His voice, a splendid, robust basso, has a resonance and voluminous penetration that is indescribable. Broderick makes, indeed, a most puissant mephistopheles and was the most conspicuous figure— barring the charming Abbott, of course—in the opera last evening. He won the honors by the strength of his acting and the rare effectiveness of his singing, and was encored to the echo time and time again. Siebel, by Lizzie Annandale, was, of course, well impersonated, while Pruette's Valentine was strong and realistic. Michelena in Faust strong and realistic. Michelena in Faust was excellent and elicited enthusiastic plaudits from his admirers. At the close of the third act, by the request of mnumerable friends of Miss Abbett, she sang the "Last Rose of Summer," and sang it with a pas-sionate elegance, an irresistible pathetic sweetness that carried the large audience of their feet in manifestations of approval. But as to the opera as a whole, the music was as delicious as the scenic and mechanical effects were startling and dazzling.

It was "Faust" as "Faust" was never produced here before. Even the votaries of Gounod were conquered, and that portion of the audience which was not educated to enthusiasm over the matchless music found thursasin over the matchies music found thursugh satisfaction in the alluring influence of the sweet Abbott's master work. The ladies of Omaha remembered her with a shower of flowers and other tokens of their
